The Club has embarked on a restoration project for the golf course. Phase I commenced in 2006 and included the fumigation of greens and approaches. The greens were seeded to A1/ A4 bentgrass while the approaches were seeded to L-93 bentgrass. The 45 green-side bunkers were restored by the renowned golf course construction company of McDonald & Sons, Inc. Phase II is slated for 2010, continuing the restoration efforts of the fairway bunkers and renovations to the practice facility.

GOLF COURSE MAINTENANCE INTERNSHIP

300 Adams Dam Road
Wilmington, DE 19807

Bidermann Golf Course

Bidermann GC sits on the quiet landscape of Winterthur, just northwest of the City of Wilmington, between the two towns of Greenville and Centreville offering the members of the Vicmead Hunt Club the most unique golf experience in the Philadelphia region.

Once a private nine hole facility constructed in 1928 on the Winterthur Estate for Henry F. du Pont, Bidermann was transformed into a private 18 hole course in 1965 to achieve the goal of having a small, intimate club dedicated solely to the game of golf in the Wilmington area.

The course was designed by architect Dick Wilson with the intention of making an enjoyable course to the +/-12 handicap golfer and a quiet get-away atmosphere. Bidermann GC was never intended to host major championships or large corporate outings and that remains true today.

A short, 10 minute drive along scenic roads bordering the course will bring you to the young, diverse and growing city of Wilmington where many college graduates reside in the vibrant section of Trolley Square.

Bidermann GC is an ideal location as it is centrally located in the Northeast. Within two hours, one could easily drive to Philadelphia, New York City, Baltimore or Washington D.C. The proximity of the Delaware Beaches or the Jersey Shore enables one to get away and enjoy the ocean breeze.

Bidermann is very well known to many Club Managers, Golf Professionals and Golf Course Superintendents as a "Very Special Place" for golf.
